164 RECYCLING PRESENTATION

The Head of Waste Management Glenn Stuart gave a verbal presentation on current initiatives to encourage recycling within the Borough, in attendance also was Luke Solczak, Waste Regulatory Officer, Bury East area.

The presentation contained the following information; at the start of October the Council changed the way it collected household waste to help boost recycling, reduce carbon emissions and save money to protect other public services. The recycling rate has already risen to around 55% an increase of over 7%.

The Head of Waste Management reported that a new scheme will be rolled out across the Borough identifying residents that continually fail to recycle properly. Green, Amber and red tags will be placed on recycling bins to alert residents. The Recycling Education and Awareness team will be visiting areas across the borough where we know some people struggle with recycling. The team will work with these communities to make sure they have the recycling bins they need and to help remove any barriers they have to recycling so that it can become a part of their daily life.

In response to a question from a member of the public the head of waste management reported that across Greater Manchester the only plastic items that can be recycled at the kerbside are plastic bottles. Plastic yogurt pots, plastic margarine containers and plastic food trays are all made of lower grade plastic. There is much less demand from recycling companies for lower grade plastic items and a more cost effective way of dealing with these items is to burn them to generate energy.

The Head of Waste Management reported that in partnership with Greater Manchester Waste the Council are actively lobbying government to increase the variety of plastics that can be recycled.

In response to a question from a member of the public, the Head of Waste Management reported that fines would only be issued to those members of the public that persistent reoffend.

Harry Reed raised concerns that the recycling bins in Openshaw Park have not been emptied for over two years.

In response to a comment raised in relation to engagement with the Black and Minority Ethnic community, the Head of Waste Management reported that the education is ongoing and will be rolled out across all of the Borough, with officers working specifically with the BME community.

In response to concerns raised about the lack of enforcement action taken, the Head of Waste Management reported that the officers would want to work with residents in the first instance to try and educate them and enforcement and any subsequent fines would be a last resort.

In response to criticisms and comments made by some residents in regards to the officers in attendance, Councillor Connolly reported that all employees should be treated courteously and respectfully.

It was agreed:
